Fire Destroys Businesses In Midnight Blaze

A fire completely destroyed a beauty shop and a bookkeeping office here shortly after midnight last Friday morning. Destroyed were the Salon de Belleza and King's Office Supply and Bookkeeping Service.

This is the same building which burned last August, burning out the beauty shop and a florist shop. The florist shop opened back in another location and just last month Mr. Bobby King of Elba opened his bookkeeping office in the building.

Local police and fire officials say the blaze apparently started in the beauty shop and spread to the other business. There have been numerous rumors concerning the fire, but local police, the state fire marshal and state investigators who are investigating will neither confirm nor deny any of them.

The rapid way the fire spread and the multiple explosions of contents of the beauty shop have lead to varied stories of arson and firebombs, but press time Tuesday, Police Chief Jack Smart could not confirm these or the story that was credited Friday afternoon to official sources.

For details, applicants should either visit the school or contact officials at P. O. Box 1088 Ozark, Alabama, telephone number 774-5113.

HAPPINESS IS

Having good weather at the French Club and Beta Club conventions.

Getting to stay in the halls during bad weather. Being sick on report card day.

Having a book report test postponed a whole week. Not breaking your neck while tumbling.

Studying something interesting in history. Sitting where you want to during assembly programs.

WHAT IF

Janet King could add. Mrs. Hollis could not read.

Mrs. Kennedy didn't have her stool. Bruce Thompson didn't think he was beautiful.

Smoke wasn't always pouring out of the teacher's lounge. Claudette Reaves wore her hand boots on the right feet.

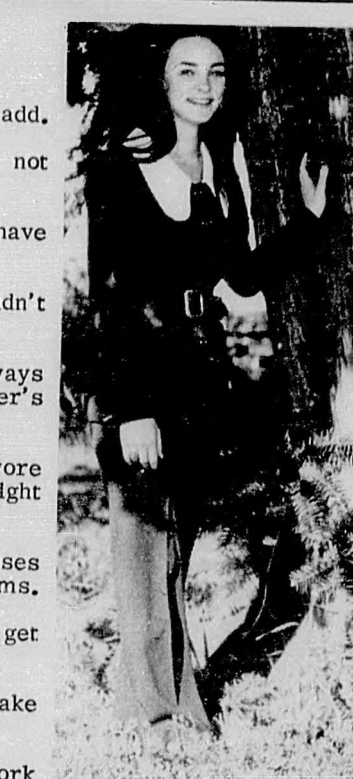

The French classes didn't have to learn poems. Melba Spurlin would get her license.

Someone found the snake in Mrs. Prior's room. Nobody copied homework in homeroom.

All your test weren't always on the same day. Mrs. Padgett had Ronnie Parrish all six periods, five days a week.

One day Jack Smith wasn't blamed for something the other one did. Kathy Smith and Dennis Donaldson were going steady.

VICKI VAUGHAN

SENIOR OF THE MONTH

This month's very lucky 'Student of the Month' is Vicki Vaughan. Vicki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Vaughan, Jr.

Vicki's hobbies are water skiing, cooking, reading, swimming and sewing (when she is in the mood for it).

Vicki is an active member of the Beta Club, FHA, and the French Club. She is also the treasurer of the Student Council. Vicki was the Homecoming Queen this year. Other honors include being on the Metcalf's Fashion Teen Board and being elected the State Vice President of the FHA.

Vicki's favorite teacher is Mrs. Butt's. Her favorite class is English.

She thinks a boy should be trustworthy, honest, well groomed and he should have nice manners.

Her pet peeve is for a person to pretend to be something he is not.

Vicki thinks school is the place where a person goes to prepare for life ahead and if you don't get it now you probably never will. She thinks it can be improved by a better student-teacher relationship.

After finishing school Vicki plans to attend the University of Alabama.

We would like to congratulate Vicki for being selected as the 'Student of the Month.'

DENNIS SMITH

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

We would like to congratulate this week's 'Senior of the Week', Dennis Smith. Dennis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Smith of Route 1, Elba.

His hobbies include hunting and fishing, but his favorite interest is football. He is a member of the "E Club" at Elba High.

Dennis' favorite teacher is Mr. Clark and his favorite class is Study Hall. After high school he plans to attend Clemson University in South Carolina.

His pet peeve is hearing a teacher preach about something constantly.

"The qualities that a person should have," says Dennis, "are the qualities that make a person himself and not someone else."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations Dennis."

DAIRMEN A number of dairymen and their wives attended the annual meeting of the Alabama Dairy Association in Montgomery last Thursday, I enjoyed attending with them. Glen Lake, one of the officials in the United Dairy Industry Association, pointed out that by working together dairymen can increase their dairy products marketing potential. Lake, who is from Michigan, said, "Dairymen are becoming stronger because they are united and they are united because they are stronger."

Dairymen are a fast growing industry in Coffee County. We have a number of young dairymen, and this is a sign that we are going to continue to grow.

4-H HORSE SHOW Kim Killeit, president of the Dixie 4-H Club, and Vice President Lisa Minsidine, Secretary Terri Olsen, Treasurer Teresa Hines and Reporter Jody Westmoreland are making plans now for the second annual Coffee County 4-H Horse Show. Last year the club had one of the top 4-H horse shows in the state. Adult leaders Mrs. Dor Olsen and Mrs. H. W. Trail are helping members of the Dixie 4-H Club in finalizing their plans.

BICYCLE SAFETY Just about all young boys and girls have bicycles. Last year almost 1,000 young people were killed in the United States in bicycle accidents. Another 40,000 were severely injured.

Opportunities Pinpointed for Production

Recently released 1971 USDA Acreage Marketing Guides pinpoint opportunities for increasing production of selected spring vegetable and melon items to fill current market needs, says M. R. Glasscock, Extension fruits and vegetable marketing specialist.

The acreage marketing guides are published by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service to help growers balance supply with product needs, adds Glasscock.

Acreage of mid-spring watermelons and cantaloupes can be increased in the 1971 figures, about 100 per cent more acres of sweet corn and cucumbers for fresh market are also in line with market needs. Snap beans, green peppers and tomatoes are suggested in the same volumes that were produced in 1970.

The 5th grade 4-H boys section and 2 of the Elba Middle School saw a film on drugs in February. John then began to smoke pot. After a few weeks John began taking drugs into his veins. Soon John and Pete got into trouble with the police. ## COFFEE NEWS & CHAT

BY: SARA E. HUTCHINSON

ROAST BEEF
Why not plan for some roast to be left over? Left over roast beef can be served in many tasty ways. It can be sliced and served cold or used for salads or sandwiches. Cubed and combined with cooked vegetables and gravy, roast beef becomes a quick stew or casserole. Topped with a pastry crust or biscuits, it becomes a meal. The last roast leftovers can be ground and combined with onion, pickle, relish and mayonnaise to make a salad or a spread for sandwiches or crackers.

FREEZER RECORDS
Frozen foods can't be kept indefinitely. To avoid waste, keep an up-to-date inventory near the freezer, noting each change as food is added or removed. Date each new package as it is placed in the freezer. Store the same kind of foods together, and move those already in the freezer to the front, so that older packages will be used first.

MEASUREMENT TIPS
The measurements needed to determine correct pattern size are bust, waist, hip 7 inches below waistline and back waist length. When using pattern pieces, remember that pattern allows for "ease" to permit you to move freely in a garment. Bust ease is three to four inches depending upon the fashion design. Waist line will have one-half inch ease while the back waist length ease is usually one-fourth to three-eighths inch.

CHICKEN
Very often someone will ask why meat around the chicken bone looks reddish brown. The meat will look this way after cooking. Don't be concerned. The broiler-fryers tend to show this effect because they're marketed young. The bone marrow has not fully hardened and the red blood cells seem like the waisting meat, causing a deep red or brown color.

EVERGREEN SHRUBS
Evergreen shrubs should be pruned to control their shape and size, to remove dead, diseased, or damaged wood, and to remove old branches to allow for new growth. Usually evergreens need less pruning than deciduous shrubs, but they should be pruned any time during the dormant period, or if they will not appear. If a plant has several stems, cut the old, leggy row-evergreens to the ground to promote new growth from the base of the plant. Do not cut back all the old stems pruned every year, pruning cut back one or two of them each year for 2 or 3 years.

Washington Report

by GEORGE ANDREWS
Member of Congress
Third District of Ala.

American involvement, Southeast Asia has tended to cover up a growing problem much closer to home—Communist Cuba and the renewed Soviet activity there.

We all remember the great Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962, when President Kennedy suddenly put his foot down, and the Soviet Union backed off from building missile bases in Cuba.

It's nice to remember that crisis, and smart to remember all such historical examples of Soviet aggression, but the Nixon Administration may be courting disaster in putting blind faith in the so-called "understanding" between the two countries that came out of the confrontation.

First of all, assuming the Soviets would honor an agreement of any kind, and I have never made such an assumption—no written agreements or exchanges with Russia were made on the subject of future Soviet military activity in this hemisphere.

President Kennedy said only in a press conference that "if all offensive weapons are removed from Cuba and kept out of the hemisphere under adequate verification and safeguards and if Cuba is not used for the export of aggressive Communist purposes, there will be peace in the Caribbean."

That was in 1962. Here in 1971, Russia has almost completed construction of a submarine base, capable of servicing missile-carrying subs, at the Cuban port of Cienfuegos. During a top secret briefing I saw a photograph taken of the base.

When this latest bit of Soviet deception became known to Washington last September, the administration quickly took Russia to task about it. Where upon the Soviet News Agency, TASS, presumably one non-critical nuclear plant is said to be already in operation and another with the capacity of producing military quality fissile material should become operational this year.

The Soviet Union is estimated to have between 20,000 and 22,000 soldiers in Cuba, and they conduct regular maneuvers throughout the island.

The Cuban underground reports that an important Soviet Army military complex is being developed in the mountains of La Caba, containing underground installations, artillery emplacements, wire fences, and the like.

In order to avoid detection from aerial surveillance, the Soviets are planning to build a military base in Cuba which would "contradict the understanding of 1962."

The Soviets made a token gesture in that direction by moving a large submarine tender from Cienfuegos and out into the Caribbean for the moment. Yet, construction of the sub base could still be going on.

If the President is so assured, he obviously is paying little attention to the recent report of three respected members of the Cuban Watch Committee on Cuba, composed of representatives of the more than 600,000 exiled Cubans living in this country.

The report was pieced together from intelligence reports, including some only in a press conference from the Cuban underground. It was reported that the Russians are modernizing the harbors of seven cities on the Northern coast of Cuba.
